VETARZO BRAIN AND NERVE FOOD.

This remarkable compound, the result of the latest developments and achievements of modern chemistry, pharmacology, and therapeutics, is without equal in all cases of defective nerve power, whether induced by worry, over-work, unhealthy climate, dissipation, excess, youthful imprudence, or other influences incidental to the wear and tear and haste or overstrain of modern life. Sleeplessness, tremblings, palpitation, nervous dyspepsia, low spirits, mental and bodily prostration, muscular and local weakness, general and nervous debility, faulty nutrition, premature decay or deficiency of the vital forces, impaired vitality, harassing dreams, night disturbances, sudden startings, dimness of sight, defective hearing, loss of memory, inability to perform the various duties of life, or to enjoy its pleasures, restlessness that can settle to nothing, irritability of temper, female complaints, hysteria, painful periods, backache, bearing down sensations, nervous headache, wasting disease, night sweats, and all other phases of brain and nerve exhaustion, are successfully combated by this highly scientific preparation. Bracing up the system generally, it gives tone to the exhausted nerves, arrests all weakening wasting discharges, involuntary losses, &c.; restores the failing energies, and imparts new life and vigour to what had so recently seemed worn out, "used up," and valueless.

VETARZO BLOOD MEDICINE.

Never before was there anything like it, nor can its marvellous properties ever be equalled in all cases of poorness, impurity, or other imperfection of the blood from whatever cause arising. No sooner is it imbibed into the system than it permeates and penetrates to the minutest capillaries, overcoming and expelling the virus of disease, wheresoever and in whatsoever form met with; removing all blotches, pimples, scurf, scurvy, scrofulous and glandular swellings, discolorations, roughness and unsightly patches, &c. Its effects are almost magical in the treatment of gout, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, pains and swellings of the joints, discharges, secondary symptoms, eczema, lepra, psoriasis, bad legs, bad breasts, abscesses, ulcers, sores, goitre or Derbyshire neck, it improves the general health, and quickly removes long-standing bronchitis, asthma, and hacking, straining, spasmodic cough, too often the precursor of consumption.

CAUTION.—Ask for "VETARZO Brain and Nerve Food," or "VETARZO Blood Medicine," whichever is required, and see that you get them, as unprincipled vendors often try to palm off inferior preparations (usually their own manufacture), for the sake of extra profit. Price in England, 2/9. Every genuine bottle of these medicines bears the British Government Stamp with the words "VETARZO REMEDIES" impressed thereon, in white letters on a red ground, by direction of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners. Registered Trade Mark "VETARZO." Legal proceedings will be taken against persons pirating.

COMMON SENSE IN A NUTSHELL.—A NEW medical work on the causes and most scientific and effectual means of self-cure ever discovered for nervous exhaustion, depression of spirits, want of zest and energy, &c., with practical observations on marriage and full directions for removing certain disqualifications that destroy the happiness of wedded life. It also treats on urinary derangements, secondary symptoms, stricture, &c., and no sufferer should fail to procure a copy. Post free in plain envelope on receipt of Postal Order Sixpence, from THE VETARZO REMEDIES Co., Gospel Oak, London, or of Agents for above medicines. Price 10 annas Post Free.

AMATEUR THEATRICALS IN BOMBAY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

Sir,—Our theatrical efforts have met with such kind consideration at the hands of the press that it is perhaps hardly fair to ask permission to encroach further on your valuable space; but I am most anxious to make some acknowledgement of the many services and kindnesses that have been bestowed on the undertaking.

Messrs. Rose and Co. have again supplied programmes and have carried out the arduous task of booking arrangements etc., free of charge.

Messrs. Claridge and Co. have made splendid posters and hand bills for us at a nominal charge.

Messrs. F. C. Osler lent us handsome lamps with electric fittings, and Mr. Breslauer of Messrs. Bernard and Co., lent furniture and personally supervised the setting of the stage.

Last but by no means least, come "the noble army of scene shifters"—men of the Garrison Artillery under the guidance of Lieut. L. Franstadt, R.E., Mr. Lincoln, B.B. and C.I.R., and Lieut. Viney, Leicestershire Regiment. I think everyone will agree that the complete change of three scenes was carried out in a masterly manner and the patience of the audience not taxed to the extent that it often is, not only in Amateur but in any performance in Bombay.

Messrs. Billimoria and their staff are also to be thanked for their obliging and very willing assistance in the multifarious details that go to make up any theatrical production.

I feel personally deeply indebted to those ladies and gentlemen who formed my little company, and to Mr. Reginald Ellis, our most unobtruse prompter. Only those who have got up amateur dramatic performances know the unselfishness and heavy tax on time, patience and energy that is entailed. In response to the favourable criticisms that have been made by the press and by individuals, I cannot lose this opportunity of saying that we owe all that was artistic and finished in the performance of "The Case of Rebellious Susan" to the skill, experience and wonderful teaching powers of Mrs. Harry Barlow.

I crave indulgence for trespassing thus on your space; it is the last occasion on which I shall ask "Yet another favour" of our long suffering friend "the Editor,"—Yours, etc.,

BEATRICE M. DIMMOCK.

DEATH SENTENCE CONFIRMED

On the Appellate Side of the Bombay High Court, the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Batchelor and the Hon'ble Mr. Justice G. E. Rao have disposed of an appeal from a decision of Mr. F. G. Varley, Sessions Judge of Khandesh, who convicted Hyderali Adamji, a Borah, of the murder of one Abdul Hussein, also a Borah, on the 4th July last by means of arsenic and sentenced him to death.

It appeared that the deceased, who was employed in a mosque at Ranal, was given some poisoned "falluda" to eat. Sometime after partaking of the food, the deceased became worse and died. His food was found to contain arsenic and the motive for the murder appeared to be that the accused was in the service of the mosque, whence when he was dismissed, and the deceased was put in his place. On the house of the accused being searched nux vomica and sulphate of copper were found. The defence was that it was a got-up case concocted by the Borahs of the village.

Their Lordships confirmed the death sentence and dismissed the appeal.

ALLEGED TRESPASS.

On Saturday, at the Esplanade Police Court, before Mr. H. Campbell, Acting Chief Presidency Magistrate, Inspector Barter charged Duncan Spring, an African, with trespassing on board a steamer. J. W. McMillan, a seaman on board the s.s. "Devanha" deposed that on Friday the accused tried to get on board about five times. He sent the accused back, but while he was away, the latter boarded the ship. The accused was found seated on the port side, and would not go ashore when asked to do so. The police were then called and on their arrival, the accused stiffened his legs and would not move. As the accused appeared to be of unsound mind, he was ordered to be sent to the Police Surgeon for observation.

ARMS ACT PROSECUTION.

Before Rao Bahadhur Chunilal H. Setalvad, Fourth Presidency Magistrate at the Mazagon Police Court, Inspector Gough charged Vithal Sayana, a Hindu, with possessing a sword without a license from the Commissioner of Police. The accused was seen fencing at the Ganpatti procession on the 18th instant with a sword, for which there was no license. The accused pleaded guilty and was fined Rs. 20.

CONCESSIONS OR PAY?.

The military officer, the wide-world over, is generally acknowledged to be the worst paid servant of his country, and yet he is the one servant of the Crown, whose presence guards the very foundations of Empire, Kingdom, or Republic. His pay is a relic of old times, when small pay and much fighting were his lot and the right to loot was his most valued privilege. Nowadays his pay still remains small, his chances of active service are few and far between, and looting is not permitted. All Governments are slow to move, when increases to their financial burdens are mooted, and as long as material is forthcoming at the old labour rates, rarely move beyond the Committee stages of considering, the while holding forth vague but specious promises of improvement. Concessions are the sweetest sop held out to the hungry, expectant military man, waiting patiently for the fulfilment of the vaguely worded promises. Any way, to quiet the slow but steady rising feeling of general discontent, in a service indispensable to the country, is resorted to, except the one and only remedy for the growing evil, the granting of an adequate pay for the work and responsibilities asked to be undertaken and performed. In Truth of 27th July, an Indian reader, probably an unhappy officer, suggested that the Government might give valuable financial assistance to officers in this country at a trifling cost to the taxpayer by obtaining for them the privilege of travelling by rail at reduced fares when on leave, and extending the privilege once a year to their wives and families when going to the hills. The request was a very humble one, and an analysis of the circumstances should show its justice as more than fair. There are many who will remember the famous memo. issued by a one time Commander-in-Chief of a Presidency to the effect that it was infra dig for officers of the Army to travel second class either by rail or steamship. Had an Order further stated that arrangements had been made by Government for officers to travel by rail and steamship, at greatly reduced rates, no one could have cavilled at its arbitrariness. Railway and Steamship Companies make great reductions in fares for Missionaries, nurses, railway servants and certain others. Why not for soldiers?

There is no gainsaying the fact that military officers as a body are quite as impecunious, if not moreso, than the above favoured classes. In all Foreign Armies, officers are in respect to transport charges by rail and sea treated most liberally. Practically all the Railways in India are in the hands of Government, and are State run concerns, but leaving apart the question of whether the Railways are State run or not, it is a fact easily verified at any Indian Railway centre, that first and second class compartments on most lines run empty, the majority of days in the year. The haulage of the vehicle is a charge against the Railway Company which cannot be got over, and if by granting to military officers the privilege of using "Form E" on all occasions—the privilege to travel first-class at second-class fares—would produce for these vehicles even half-rates for a certain class of passenger, it is a mere matter of Arithmetic to discover that the Railway Company can wash out, at any rate a part, if not the whole charge for haulage. The case of the married officers with large families going to the hills is one where the concession travelling on "Form E" would certainly be a great boom, for the family man is heavily mulcted in deductions and subscriptions to Pension Funds, etc., and even this would be but a sop, put forth to delay the inevitable. It is an extraordinary but undoubted fact that, generally throughout the service, paterfamilias is looking round for other spheres of work for his sons, than the army in which he has served and probably his forebears before him, for many generations. The disinclination of the younger generation to join the military service as a career has been practically proved for at the past examination for appointments in the army fewer candidates were forthcoming than the vacancies offered. The numbers of resignations of young officers speaks for itself, and it is generally felt that the amount of work asked to be performed and the largely increased responsibilities, the difficulty in obtaining leave, the stress of work of a strenuous nature, and lack of recreation formerly enjoyed, are not nowadays efficiently repaid, by the present day scale. The charms and joys of the service have been reduced, the work and responsibilities increased, and the pay remains where it was. The British Officer is not afraid of work, but he fully realizes and and recognises that the workman is worthy of his hire and having fully recognised this principle he will like any other community eventually win his point, his claim being only a just and fair one. So far the sop has been mostly put out by slight increases of pay to junior ranks, only to entice the younger generations.

Once a man has entered the world's labour market in a certain role, it is hard after the age of, say, thirty, to turn his hand from the plough, and enter a new sphere of usefulness. So once the youngster is caught, he is generally kept there. This has certainly been the case in recent years, but the frequent resignations among the younger ranks of officers is significant. What makes the more discerning amongst them take this step so early and before it is too late? What but the visible discontent of the seniors, their disappointments, the slow promotion, the poor pay, the heavy expenses, which they are in a position to view, at close quarters. To cut out a cancer, all the roots must be attacked. To cure the discontent not only must those entering the service be content with the terms of their hire, but those at the end of their service also, lest their discontent affect the youngsters. Ambitious youngsters wishing to make a career can but look forward to the same prospects as their seniors or perhaps worse. Certain cases of official treatment of individual officers, have not tended to raise the popularity of the service, and the feeling exists, that under no circumstances can one be sure, that hard work, and merit will win its own reward. The undoubted fact remains that living has become more expensive in all its branches, and with that and more work and greater responsibility expected of the officer, there is but one way to make this body of men contended, and to feel their services are acknowledged and treated at their right value and that is, to raise the pay all round and of all ranks. Concessions may be given all along the line as sops, temporarily to check the dissatisfaction—discontent that is bound to force itself upon the notice of Government, and then the sops now granted must also be allowed to remain, as an acknowledged right for they cannot be taken away without causing a grievance. The present policy will in the long run prove itself to have been pennywise and pound-foolish.

The Pope and Modernism. More general sympathy than is usually extended to those who come into conflict with the Roman See over matters of faith or discipline will go out to M. Marc Sangnier, against whom and the Sillon, the Pontiff has recently issued an encyclical. M. Sangnier, it will be of interest to note, began his career as an officer of the French army, a position which he sacrificed in order to devote in the ranks of the laity, his life's service to the Catholic Church in general, and in particular to an attempt to restore to their former friendly character the amenities between the Church and France. He combined patriotism with loyalty to his Church, and so strong a case did he make out that his ideals won speedy recognition and approval at Rome, whence were directed to the fervent young idealist the most benign blessings His Holiness the Pope could bestow. The fact of his zeal was recognized and the Sillonists came to be regarded in the most orthodox circles as a movement the propaganda of which was directed towards the re-domination of the Church in the public life in France. So largely, indeed, was Sangnier's mission approved by his ecclesiastical superiors, that he was invited by many of the French bishops to give lectures to young priests in the Colleges and to explain to them his views in the combination of doctrine with social and political action. For nearly ten years was the propaganda accepted by representative churchmen, and so successful was Sangnier's work among the rank and file in France that a year or so ago he was constrained to found and edit a daily newspaper, La Democratie, a journal that has achieved an almost unique success. Then came the blow. The Vatican professed to see in the Sillon, and its democratic tendencies a danger and menace to discipline, and issued an encyclical calling upon Sangnier to dissolve the Society, and practically censuring Sangnier himself as a dangerous person whose belief and tendencies were rapidly diverging from orthodoxy.

To the latter the man promptly gave more than a denial—he proved his good faith and loyalty to Catholicism by at once resigning his connection with the Sillon, and making full and filial submission on questions of religious doctrine. But he declined to kill La Democratie, and announced his intention of continuing the editorship of the newspaper "as a Republican and Democratic citizen of the State, whilst maintaining his allegience to the Catholic Church." The ecclesiastical journals have taken a very strong line, principally against Sangnier, but it is stated in Paris that independent observers who have read some of the latest commentaries published in Roman journals consider that there is at least some uneasiness in the Vatican at the effect produced by the Papal letter. It is known that at the outset the decision of the Vatican did not receive universal approval in Rome, but it is now believed that at least some of the influential Cardinals consider that the letter was in some respects a mistake. The question of Roman Catholicism and democracy has been discussed with some ardour, and much has been written to show that there is nothing in the doctrine of the Roman Church condemnatory of popular forms of government. With this intention citations are made from the Portuguese Suarez and from Saint Thomas Aquinas. One of the writers, it seems, has discovered passages in Saint Thomas which go so far as to justify popular insurrection against tyrannical kings. It is plain, however, to quote the Paris correspondent of a London contemporary, that this special pleading has not much effect in the French capital, where it is pointed out that the question is not so much what Saint Thomas said in particular circumstances as the words that Pope Pius X used when condemning the Sillon. Whatever the issue may be M. Sangnier will not take lying down the attack on his right of citizenship, and in a recent interview he declared: "My acts as a citizen and my political faith belong to the temporal province, and here, Catholic though I am, I maintain that I have an entire right to judge for myself. I know well enough that this will lead to bitter polemics both on the Right and on the Left, and that I shall be attacked for the very preciseness of my question. I shall ask Cardinal Merry del Val very respectfully if La Democratie is included in the Papal condemnation, and if I have to submit, as a citizen, as I have submitted as a Catholic." The issue to this pretty little quarrel, if it can be so called, will be awaited even in non-Catholic countries with much interest.

The New Persian Regent. The appointment of Nasir-ul-Mulk as the new Regent in Persia is to be welcomed as one likely to alleviate the disturbed condition, which has prevailed in Persia during the reign of the young Shah and his predecessor. Its weak point is his small experience of public life, but on the other hand there can be no doubt of his ability, his liberality and breadth of view or his patriotism and his popularity amongst all parties. He is universally respected in Persia as an earnest man of unostentatious disposition, a deep thinker who has the benefit of his country rather than his personal aggrandisement at heart. During the turmoil which has characterised Persian affairs in recent years Nasir-ul-Mulk has kept himself clear of its tumult. Repeated efforts have been made, however, to induce him to take a share in the Government and on the abdication of the ex-Shah, he was urged to accept the Premiership. At that time, of course, the Bakhtiari influence was in the ascendancy; Sirdar-Asat and Sipah Dar had places in the Cabinet, and it was probably because he felt he could scarcely work in harmony with such vigorous spirits that he declined to serve. Now that the moderate party has come into power, there seems no reason why he should not be able to work in co-operation with its leaders, and there is no cause for believing that he will refuse this appointment. He is a man of moderate but progressive views. He will countenance no violent or revolutionary methods, but may be relied upon to introduce reforms gradually and cautiously, while his English education will tend to lead him to fashion his constructive methods on the lines of British institutions. He was educated at Balliol College, Oxford, where he was a contemporary of Lord Curzon, and the ex-Viceroy, who on his visit to Persia as the correspondent of the Times found him as a Governor of an important province, held a high view of his administrative capacity. He has made appreciative references to him in his well-known book on Persia. Nasir-ul-Mulk's appointment from a purely British point of view is a subject for congratulation, for his early training will have put him in sympathy with British ideals and under him British interests are unlikely to be neglected.

Much interest has been aroused by the statement that King Victor has written to the Sultan of Turkey urging him to abolish slavery throughout his Empire. The King, it is stated, called the Sultan's attention to the fact that slavery still existed in the Red Sea, despite the efforts of the Italian maritime police, and that the slaves which were brought from Africa into Arabia were unfortunately destined for the harems at Constantinople.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

TSAR IN GERMANY.

Fanaticism in Turkey.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, Sept. 10.

Columns have been printed in the Democratic and Socialist Press about the precautions taken to ensure the safety of the Tsar during his visit to Hesse, and a reader of these stories would get the impression that the Russian ruler never left the precincts of the Friedburg Schloss, except in the middle of an impenetrable ring of gendarmes and detectives. So far is this from being the case that the measures adopted do not even suffice to protect his Majesty from the intrusive and aggressive curiosity of the holiday-making public. In the hope of procuring him the same freedom of movement as any private citizen, the following official protest has been circulated among the newspapers:

"As the Tsar sat on Thursday on one of the benches of the promenade at Bad Nauheim he was recognised by some of the visitors, and molested in a manner that was positively scandalous. People stationed themselves directly opposite him, stared into his face, surrounded him, and pointed at him with their fingers. It was only with difficulty that the Tsar could escape from these annoyances. If such occurrences should be repeated, it would be made impossible for the Tsar in future to show himself in public and go for walks." To-day, however, the Russian Sovereign did not allow himself to be deterred by his unpleasant experience of yesterday. He left the Schloss on foot with his eldest daughter, and followed the field-paths to the Ludwigsbrunnen. Here they climbed the rickety wooden steps, nearly a hundred feet high, leading up to the salt works, which they examined very thoroughly. The Tsar and the Princess subsequently walked back to Friedberg.

SPY MANIA IN GERMANY.

It is stated in the Berlin Press that the application for the release from custody made by the Englishmen, Messrs. Brandon and Trench, has been rejected, and their removal to Leipzig ordered. The Secretariate of the United Second and Third Penal Senates of the Imperial Court Special Tribunal alone has jurisdiction in cases of this kind, declare there is practically no prospect of the trial taking place within the next two months, and that it might easily have to be deferred till after Christmas. Many legal formalities are necessary. First the matter will be investigated by an examining magistrate, on whose report the Imperial Public Prosecutor will decide whether or not to frame an indictment. If his decision is in the affirmative, the First Senate of the Imperial Court is called upon to pronounce an opinion as to whether there is a prima facie case against the accused. Only after this Court has decided that the evidence justifies a prosecution does the matter come up before the Second and Third Senates. At present the Imperial Court is in vacation, and it will not resume work until the 15th instant. In the "Deutsche Tageszeltung," one of the few exceptions to the rule of silence observed by the German Press with regard to this affair, Count Reventlow makes a second attempt to prejudice the case against the suspects, with stories of the extraordinary activity and success of British spies in this country. He calls upon the newspapers on the German coast to draw their readers' attention periodically to the necessity of keeping a sharp eye on the movements of all foreigners who may appear in their midst. A telegram from Strasburg states that the passenger airship Zeppelin VI., which has recently been making excursions from Baden, has been forbidden to sail over the Alsatian town and its environs, as it is feared that spies may be making use of the vessel to obtain information as to the fortifications in that neighbourhood.

GERMAN SPY IN ENGLAND.

The following paragraph, clearly of official origin, with regard to Lieutenant Helm, appears in the Press of Berlin.

"Lieutenant Helm belongs to the 21st Pioneer Battalion, stationed at Mayence, and had been at the Military Technical Academy at Charlottenburg since Oct. 1 last year. At the conclusion of the course at the beginning of August he asked for six weeks' leave, in order to go to England to learn the English language, ignorance of which had often proved an obstacle to him in his studies. It is well known to foreign Governments that every year young and ambitious German officers seek to acquire a knowledge of other languages, as they are really spoken on the spot. Lieutenant Helm was very nearly prevented from undertaking his journey, as a fortnight, before the commencement of his leave he fell with his bicycle, and sustained an injury to one of his feet, which kept him in bed for eight days. After that he was able to walk short distances, with the aid of a stick. His superior officers describe Helm as a gentleman who up to the present has had no experience, and who, as he has so far completed only one course at the academy, is not in a position to carry out technical studies. Should he, as a matter of fact, have made sketches—that is to say, inexact drawings of important fortifications—it could at most be regarded as proof of his lack of discretion." A correspondent of the "Berliner Tageblatt," who applied to the battalion at Mayence, was told : "Officially nothing is known to the regiment, from which it is to be inferred that there is nothing seriously incriminating in the case. Lieutenant Helm is a man in confortable circumstances, who, in the opinion of all who know him, has quite other interests. He belongs to Berlin, and his father is also an officer. In England, Lieutenant Helm has been going about in uniform, which he would not have done if he wished to spy. Probably Lieutenant, Helm was making sketches for his album, as a memento of his journey, and did not know that he was in a fortified area." The Press, as a whole, makes light of the affair. That portion of it, however, which hastened to sit in judgment on the Borkum case, finds itself in an uncomfortable position, in that, so far as the facts are known everything which it said against Messrs. Brandon and Trench applies in at least an equal degree to Lieutenant Helm.

LOVE AND MARRIAGE.

Talk of cynical man! He will never be so worldly wise as a score of anonymous ladies who tell us what they think of love. A Paris fashion paper has instituted a correspondence among its readers, which seems to have caught on considerably to judge by the pages of questions and copious answers. Some correspondents want to know how to make gooseberry jam or mend a china flowerpot. But one of them signs "Love or Death," and asks for appropriate information. She is two-and-twenty. She loves the wrong man, and she hates the man who loves her, and whom her parents want her to marry. Shall she marry the man she hates, or die a maid? Even cynical man would hesitate to answer "Marry." The immense majority of the ladies, however, who reply in the fashion paper under cover of curious pseudonyms, say in substance, "Marry the man you hate. Love is not of the slightest importance for getting married." "Rainbow" advises, "You have no sympathy for the young man but if you marry him he will certainly cease to be indifferent." The lady writes this without any conscious humour. "In time you will certainly learn to love him. I have a friend who was exactly in your position. She has been married three years, and has two charming babies, and says she is quite happy." The last remark is cautious. Another adviser writes: "You have no idea what a bore an affectionate husband becomes. Marriage and love don't agree for any length of time. Mutual esteem is the real foundation of marriage." "Marry by all means," says a lady who signs herself "Shy Daisy"; "don't let the chance go by. Don't sniff at it. In a few years your romantic notions will pass away, and you will acknowledge that romantic passion is all nonsense, and that the only real happiness is to have a comfortable home. I know from experience." Yet another worldly-wise lady writes :

Girls have all sorts of wrong notions about marriage. They think the passion of their betrothal days is going to last for ever. Happiness may last, but passion doesn't, because life does away with it. Very often the nicest men to be engaged to make the worst husbands. You don't love the young man, but if he cares for you he will be nice to you, and you will like him and end by caring for him. One of my friends hated the man she married, and, now she thanks me for having persuaded her to marry him. What rational, sensible souls these French ladies are! Yet, though they don't give twopence among them for love marriages, they are indirectly consoling at the same time. Marriage must be a mangnificent institution if the happiest marriages are the loveless ones. Only two correspondents all told advise "Love or Death," to "die a maid rather than marry a man she doesn't care for." "Broken Heart" says shortly : "Believe me, don't make a loveless marriage." She evidently knows what it is, and her laconic answer is pathetic. The second reply of the kind can hardly be said to count, for "Kodak" writes : "I am 18, and I feel I can do quite will without any husband." One has a short of feeling that Miss Kodak will be falling head over ears in love one of these days.

AMBASSADOR INSULTED.

On Monday evening the Italian Ambassador Baron Mayor des Planches, came across from Therapia in a ferry-boat, accompanied by his wife and a few members of the Embassy staff, and landed at Tophane. The cavass (native attendant) beckoned to the only vehicle then at the spot, but the driver refused to take the party, in spite of the fact that a high fare was offered. A policeman who was standing near at once intervened and endeavoured to arrest the driver of the conveyance. The latter, however, eluded him, and rushed at the cavass. The Ambassador tried to protect his servant, but was immediately attacked by the cabman in his turn, and roughly handled. The cavass then ran for help, while the Ambassador drew his sword and kept the enraged driver at a distance. In the course of this unusual and painful incident a crowd gradually collected and soon began to raise shouts of "Down with the Christians!" In spite of the policeman's appeals to respect the dignity of the Ambassador. At last the party made their way back to the ferry-boat, followed by the jeers of the crowd which had collected. Although several soldiers were present at the scene, none of them went to the aid of the Ambassador. The Italian Minister therefore, made haste to call at the Foreign Office the same evening, where he indignantly demanded satisfaction. The outburst is attributed to the fanaticism of the people, yesterday being the first day of the month of Ramadan. In any case the incident has produced an enormous impression in the foreign colony here.

PURE RADIUM DISCOVERED.

What appears to the layman, and which may be confirmed by experts, to be a discovery of the highest importance, is announced with characteristic simplicity by Mme. Curie, the widow of the chemist Pierre Curie, who shares with him the distinction of having first studied radium salts. Among the mass of correspondence received by the French Academy of Sciences, the secretary found a letter from her, informing him that, in collaboration with another chemist, M. Debierne, she had succeeded in obtaining pure radium. Hitherto only radium salts bromides, chlorides, &c., had been discovered. By an electrolytic process Mme. Curie and M. Debierne have succeeded in isolating radium. They obtained and now possess in a sealed vacuum tube, a minute particle of pure radium. This the communication describes as a white metal, of 226 atomic weight, which oxydises rapidly in air, adheres to iron, burns paper, and decomposes water. The process by which the radium was isolated was as follows : An amalgam of mercury and radium was obtained by an electrolytic treatment of a radium salt. The substance was placed in a quartz tube, and distilled in hydrogen under pressure. The tube was heated to 700deg. Centigrade. The mercury having disappeared, a thin coating of a brilliant metal was left. This was pure radium. Simultaneously, the announcement is made that the radiographic establishment, to be known in memory of the late chemist as the Curie Institute, is nearing completion in the new chemistry institute of Paris. All radiographic experimentation and research of a chemical and physical nature will henceforth be carried on in the establishment. The Curie Institute contains a store-room, lined throughout with lead, in which radium salts, and possibly now also pure radium, will be stocked. The institute will be similar to those existing in London and Vienna. It will comprise an amphitheatre, a library, a lecture-room, and laboratories, and will be under the direction of Mme. Curie.

A PRINCE'S FAITH.

Fresh fuel seems to have been added to the fire of religious dissension which is always burning in this country by a speech delivered at Altotting by Prince Ludwig, Heir-presumptive of Bavaria, who is reported to have said : "I thank my dear God that I come from Catholic parents and was brought up in the Catholic faith. I have always stood up for our Catholic religion, because I am convinced that it is the only true and genuine religion. This is my inmost conviction, and I have always professed it, not to obtain outward honours and recognition, but simply because it is my deepest religious conviction. The Catholic religion permits every Catholic to exercise tolerance towards those of other faiths. It is false to assume that the convictions of those of other faiths are not respected by us Catholics. In the same way, however, we demand that tolerance should be exercised towards our convictions. We know quite well that it is not the Mother of God, but God in Heaven alone, who grants or refuses our prayers, because he knows best whether the fulfilment of our wishes will be good for us. Nevertheless, we hasten to the Holy Virgin Mary, and appeal to her with confidence in her power with God. I, too, have cares and anxieties, and have laid them down at the altar of the Holy Chapel. We can all testify what has been wrought through the intercession of the Supreme Virgin in the course of centuries. For some reason, which is not very obvious to the unbiassed onlooker, Protestant Germany feels hurt by this confession of faith of the Catholic Prince of a Catholic land. It is by no means the first time that Prince Ludwig's speeches have been a topic of general conversation.

TURKEY AND GREECE.

Calmness prevails in political circles in Constantinople though the violent Press campaign against Greece still continues. The reply sent by Italy and Russia to the last Turkish Note is very unfavourably commented on. It is to the effect that as M. M. Venizelos and Panayorghi are Greek subjects, there is no reason why they should not be elected to the National Assembly. As for the three Cretans elected, the Powers will take steps to secure their resignation. At present the Powers are concentrating unusually large naval forces in Near Eastern waters; but in any case the Porte will make no definite move until the return of the Grand Vizier. In the meantime, the Assembly will have an opportunity of invalidating the election of the Ottoman subjects.

INDIAN STUDENTS ABROAD.

Certificates of Identity.

The Secretary of State for India has brought to the notice of the Government of India that it not infrequently happens that natives of India, students or others, who have proceeded to England, desire to obtain passports to enable them to travel to foreign countries in which the possession of a passport is necessary or desirable, and that difficulty often arises from want of evidence to show that the applicant is a British subject and therefore entitled to a passport. Appeals for assistance are also frequently addressed to His Lordship by destitute Indians who, desire to return to their country and by students who, owing to embarrassed circumstances, are unable to complete their course of education.

The Government of India have also received intimation from the British Legation at Tokyo that orders have been issued by the Educational Department of the Japanese Government to the effect that applications on the part of foreign students for admission to schools in Japan must be made through the Diplomatic or Consular Representatives of their country in Japan. It has been suggested to the Government of India that it would be a great convenience to His Majesty's Legation at Tokyo, if Indian students, who desire to prosecute their studies in Japan, were provided with recommendations from a recognized authority in India, as it is undesirable that applications should be made to the Japanese Educational Department without some guarantee as to the character and antecedents of the persons on whose behalf such applications are made.

The Governor-General in Council accordingly desires to make it known that Indian students and others visiting England and Indian students proceeding to Japan for their education should provide themselves, before their departure from India, with an authoritative certificate of identity signed by the head of the district (in a Presidency Town, the Commissioner of Police) in the case of residents of British India and by the Political Officer in that of residents of Native States. For a student proceeding to England the certificate should be signed by the head of his last school or college and countersigned by the District Officer (in a Presidency Town, the Commissioner of Police) or Political Officer, as the case may be.

It is believed also that the grant of such certificates of identity would be of use to Indian gentlemen proceeding to America for the purpose of study or otherwise, and with the approval of the Secretary of State, the Governor-General in Council desires to recommend such Indian gentlemen to obtain, before their departure from India, an authoritative certificate of identity signed by the officers mentioned above.

Later.

General French has postponed his decision on the army manœuvres battle owing to the final confusion which correspondents describe as a hopeless mix-up and a gigantic jig-saw puzzle. The exhibition of generalship was the reverse of brilliant. Whole brigades were exposed to a merciless fire for long periods, and the repeated storming and recapture of the central position was farcical.

LONDON, Sept. 23.

The Pope has written to Monsignor Respighi, the Vicar of Rome, denouncing the recent speech of Signor Nathan, Mayor of Rome, on the anniversary of the overthrow of the Papal rule. The letter says that Signor Nathan trampled on the sacred rights of the Pontifical sovereignty, and dared to offend the doctorines of the Catholic Church and blasphemed the veracity of her dogmas. The letter draws "the attention of the whole world to this accumulation of impieties."

LONDON, Sept. 24.

Reuter wires from Rome that Mayor Nathan has replied to the Pope's denunciation of him observing that as it is the duty of the Pontiff to tell the truth according to his lights, so it is the duty of the Mayor of Rome to delineate the new civil and political era to his fellow-citizens. LONDON, Sept. 23.

It is stated in Bukharest that the Kaiser's two youngest sons will attend the Rumanian manœuvres in October.

LONDON, Sept. 24.

The Athens correspondent of the Times says that the Rumanian Foreign Minister, informed the Turkish Minister at Bukharest on September 4th, that in the event of a conflict between Turkey and Bulgaria, Rumania would mobilise all her corps d'armee along the military frontier of Bulgaria in order to be prepared for every eventuality.

Rumania wished this decision to be considered as a happy prelude to the policy of sincere friendship, which Rumania desires to inaugurate with constitutional Turkey.

The correspondent adds that the possibility of a military entente between Greece and Bulgaria is being seriously discussed as a counter-stroke to the negotiations between Turkey and Rumania.

LONDON, Sept. 25.

According to telegrams from Rome the Tribuna is authorised to state that reports that the alliance between Turkey, Germany and Austria and the Turko-Rumanian Convention were agreed upon without the knowledge of Italy are baseless. Operations Suspended.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

KARACHI, Sept. 24.

Commander Wilson, Port Officer, Karachi, who left on Sunday last with a Port Trust flotilla for carrying out salvage operations for the floating of the "Cresswell," returned to port last evening. The operations were continued during the week, and the tugs "Richmond," "Crawford" and "Collector" towed the vessel from 3 to 4 hours' daily during high water. On Monday the vessel's head was moved seaward from S. S. E. to S. 1 2 W, Tuesday from S. 1-2 W. to S. S. W. Wednesday from S. S. W. to S. W., and the ship bodily 200 feet in a direct line to seaward, On Thursday. four hours' towing produced no results, the tide being too low on this date, and as nothing further could be done during these springs, the "flotilla" returned to port. It appears now merely a question of awaiting the next highest springs which occur between the 17th and 22nd October, when it is believed the vessel will be successfully floated and brought to port. The ship is now heading the sea, is well secured in this position, and unless very abnormal weather is experienced, no harm can come to her during the present week. The weather had not been of the best while operations were going on, life boat No. 3 with Commander Wilson and 10 lascars being capazied in the surf, bottom up. One of the lascars was immersed beneath the boat for about twenty minutes, but ultimately the difficulties of the situation were surmounted, success crowned the efforts made to set the boat right and all were fortunately saved.

FRONTIER RAIDS AND ARMS TRAFFIC.

Compensation for Losses Sought.

OPEN RESENTMENT SHOWN.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, Sept. 25.

It appears that before the orders were issued closing the Kohat Pass, Mr. Merk, Acting Chief Commissioner of the North-Western Frontier Province, met the Jirgah of Kohat Pass who, in place of displaying very contrite spirit over the raids that have recently taken place in British Territory, put forward demands for compensation in regard to the losses they had sustained over the arms traffic. The Chief Commissioner refused to consider the question of compensation.

The last caravans which returned to Afghanistan from the Mekran Coast belonging mostly to tribesmen along our North-West Frontier took a new way of exhibiting their resentment at the interruption of their traffic. In revenge for their losses in the Mekran they destroyed a portion of the new telegraph line for a distance of some five miles. The poles were uprooted and broken, the insulators smashed and wire itself was chopped into pieces. The damage was promptly repaired by the telegraph linesmen and no serious interruption of traffic occurred. The caravans captured some new mail bags and made away with their contents.

News from the Frontier states that the Amir intends holding a large Durbar shortly which representatives of many districts of Afghanistan have been ordered to attend, besides the usual complement of Mullahs and certain tribal Chiefs of the Border who have already received a summons, including Sirdar Khan of Girdab. The Amir, though at present at Paghman, appears to be taking a certain amount of interest in Border affairs, for not only is he reported to have received deputations from disappointed Afridi arms dealers and consoled them to some extent for their disappointments with gifts of money to cover the expense of their journey home, but he is said to have summoned to his presence Mir Said Jan, the Hada Mulla's successor as well as one or two mullahs from the independent tribal territory. There is also irritation at present prevalent among the Afridis and other tribes on account of the success of the arms blockade operations in the Gulf. Demand for arms has induced some enterprising dealers to make purchases of broken rifles in Kabul, these rifles after being repaired to be of course palmed off on the unwary as the very latest thing from Germany. Occasionally an arms dealer succeeds in getting a few loads of rifles through to Kabul and great is the rejoicing over his achievement. Among these fortunate individuals it appears to be counted the son of Mir Mohummad Khan of Kochi, the well known arms dealer, who in gratitude for his son's safe return to Kabul distributed a large sum of money among the poor inhabitants of the Amir's capital.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA SECRETARIATS.

Recruitment of Assistants.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

SIMLA, Sept. 24.

The following modification in the rules regarding the recruitment of assistants in the Government of India Secretariats has been issued:—

In rule 1 of the rules regarding the recruitment of assistants in the Government of India Secretariats, published with the Home Department resolution Nos. 817-825, dated the 6th July 1910, the minimum educational qualifications, prescribed for Europeans, were a pass by the Cambridge Senior Local or the High School Examination or the Matriculation Examination at a University. The Governor-General-in-Council has now decided, to recognise the Oxford Senior Local Examination as affording evidence of the possession by European candidates of the required educational qualifications. The Government of India have further decided that the maximum age-limit for registration, which was fixed at 24 years, shall be raised to 25, without prejudice to the rule, which directs the removal of a candidate's name from the register on his attaining the age of 25 years. The Government of India are accordingly pleased to direct that the following revised rule shall be substituted, for rule 1, of the rules cited above:—

"The minimum educational qualifications required of candidates for the first division, will be in the case of Europeans, a pass by the Oxford or Cambridge Senior Local or the High School Examination or Matriculation Examination of a University, or such other examination not inferior to these as may from time to time be notified by the Governor-General-in-Council and in the case of Indians, a University Degree. Persons belonging to any province in India so qualified and provided they are not less than 18, nor more than 25 years of age and are able to produce satisfactory evidence as to their character and antecedents and such other particulars as the Government of India may require, are eligible for registration for appointments to the first division."

STRIKE ON THE E. I. RAILWAY.

An Exaggerated Report.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, Sept. 24.

No less than eight thousand workmen belonging to the Carriage and Wagon Department of Lilloah, on the East Indian Railway have struck work since Thursday last. For sometime past, it is stated to have been a practice with the strikers to pay their bills on pay day. At the workshop gate tradesmen assembled as usual on the Friday before last which attracted the attention of Mr. Danby, Superintendent of the Department. An enquiry was made into the matter, and it was found that they had assembled there to collect their bills. When they went to board the workmen's train, which waited very close to the gate, it was thought fit to put a stop to this practice, and an order was accordingly issued on the manager to disallow the workmen's train carrying passengers to and from the workshop gate. On Wednesday morning last, the workmen's train took a full load of passengers from Howrah to the workshop. The train, however, did not work as far as the workshop gate, and the works manager led the workmen to the workshop along the workshop lines, through which the workmen's train worked. The workmen got dissatisfied with the arrangement, and from Thursday morning nearly the whole of the staff have gone on strike, and refuse to work unless their trains are taken as far as the gate. Very few men turned up to work on Friday, and the department has been practically closed.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, Sept. 24.

Re the report of a strike on the East Indian Railway at Lilloah, the cause has been grossly exaggerated. It appears that on Friday forenoon some five hundred out of the 5,000 workmen attached to the E. I. Railway, Carriage and Wagon Department Lilloah, refused to work on the ground that they were being made to enter the workshop premises through a passage alleged to be too narrow for the purpose. It is stated that the creditors of the workmen assembled at the main gate to realise their money, much to the inconvenience of the Company. It was decided that the trains carrying the workmen from Howrah to Lilloah should not in the future run up to the gate, but stop at a little distance and the workmen be made to enter the workshop by another passage. The order was carried out, in consequence of which some of the workmen refused to work. The departmental head, however, having promised to consider their grievance, the workmen returned to work, which is going on smoothly.

The next witness, Rasamay Banerji, Nazir, Narainguni, said: "I know Aswini Ghosh. I don't know his handwriting. I have seen lathi-play in Narayanganj, and have seen Aswini Ghose join in it." He then identified the seized articles in Aswini Ghosh's house search, and Aswini Ghosh.

The next witness, Inspector Mathuranath Ghosh, said: "I conducted a search in connection with the Adabari Arms Act case, and found among other things two big knives in the house of Kailash Ganguli, the father of an accused."

Next witness, Abani mohen Chakraverty, deposed about his being a witness of the Samity search, and about the preparation of the search list.

My brother Gobesh turned an approver, Gobesh came to depose in the Dacca Jamastamy stabbing case, a few days before the murder of my brother. Our house was set on fire after Gobesh returned home under police guard. Two days after our house was burnt and my brother was murdered, it was full moon light and I heard two reports of a gun, and as I was going out, a man, looking like a bhadraloke, came forward and abused me, and fired a pistol at me. I ran away and on the returning after a while, I found several injuries on my brother and he expired immediately. Surendra Ghosh was tried in that murder case and acquitted. FOOTBALL.

Bombay Rovers' Tournament.

BOMBAY GYMKHANA vs. BOMBAY F. C.

A very large crowd assembled on the Cooperage on Saturday evening, the attraction being, the third game of the second round, of the Rovers' Tournament between these two local teams. The Gymkhana team showed two or three changes, the most notable being the selections of Brooke of the R. G. A. as centre forward. Their opponents made two changes in the side which defeated the 14th Hussars, Tweddle taking the place of Maurice as outside left, and Osborne occupying Dickson's position as centre forward. As anticipated a most exciting and interesting game took place, in fact one of the best which has yet been seen, during the present tournament. The defence on both sides proved equal to the attack, Walker, Chapman, Booker and Kaye again playing an excellent defensive game for the B. F. C. Harwood, Woolley and Pack of the forwards were most noticeable, Woolley and Pack, on one or two occasions having exceedingly hard lines in just missing the desired haven by inches. For the Gymkhana Lewin, in goal, played a very safe game, likewise Cooper at back, their work being much assisted by the excellent half back display by Barrett, Johnson and Sim, who time after time, ably frustrated the efforts of their opponents' forwards to get within shooting distance. In the forward line Cupper and Hargreaves were most conspicuous Brooke, however, not playing up to his usual form

The B F C having lost the toss, Osborne kicked off. Play veering from one end of the field to the other and the pace being very fast. Pack raised the hopes of the B F C's supporters by neatly tricking Johnston and Barrett, but Watts proved his stumbling block and with a huge kick transferred play to the other end where Brooke received and passed to Cupper, who put in a rather ticklish shot, which was well cleared by Walker. The play following this was of an even nature, Chapman being conspicuous on several occasions with clever clearances, when his goal was in jeopardy. Play continued to be of a fast character, the ball travelling from one end of the field to the other rapidly and often, and the interval arrived without either side having scored.

From the restart the Gymkhana did rather the majority of the pressing, forcing several fruitless corners, and testing Walker, with three or four hot shots, which that custodian got rid of in his usualy cool manner. At the other end, Woolley after neatly passing the half back and back lines, made the best shot of the match, which just topped the crossbar. Pack shortly afterwards with a good shot forced Lewin to concede a corner, which however was of no avail. The Gymkhana forwards now took up the running, and ably backed by their halves, gave the B. F. C's defence an anxious time, Templeton, Chapman and Kaye through excellent defensive play preventing the downfall of their goal. The Gymkhana continued to have slightly the better of matters, but were unable to penetrate their opponents' defence, and a very good game ended in a pointless draw. Result :—

DURAND FOOTBALL TOURNAMENT.

Royal Scots vs. King's Liverpool Regt.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

SIMLA, SEPT. 24.

The second game to-day was between the Royal Scots and the King's Liverpool Regiment. The play in the first half was very evenly contested. The Scots having slightly the better of the exchanges, but neither side had scored up to the call of half time. In the second half the Scots pressed and a shot sent in by their left wing was saved at the expense of a corner, which proved futile. Shortly after the inner right of the Scots and the centre forward rushing up scored the first goal for his side. The play was of a very even order after this, till the Scots obtained a corner from which they did not improve their position, but they kept the ball in their opponent's territory, and shortly after, a second corner was obtained without result. When the whistle blew for time, the Royal Scots were left winners by one goal to love. Result:—

Royal Scots 1
King's Liverpool Regt 0

In the sprint afterwards between the King's Liverpool and the Bishop Cotton School, the latter won.

SEMI-FINALS.

King's Royal Rifles vs. North Staffords.

Both teams started playing a hard and fast game, but within a couple of minutes the centre forward of the Staffords rushed the ball down and scored the first goal for his side. This sudden and unexpected reverse put the Royal Rifles on their mettle, and ere the game had been seven minutes old, they equalised. From this stage onwards, the Rifles started pressing, and obtained two corners in quick succession without result. From a melee in front of goal the centre forward of the Rifles then got possession of the ball and sent in a shot which found the net, the Rifles thus securing their second goal. Play during the rest of the first half was entirely confined to Stafford's territory, and the Rifles' centre forward scored a third goal for his side. On the call of half time, the game stood, King's Royal Rifles three, North Staffords one.

In the second half the Rifles at first had most of the play to themselves, but after twenty minutes the Staffords' right forward managed to secure the leather and scored the second goal for his side. Play for the next few minutes centred round the Rifles' goal when three fairly good attempts at equalising proved futile. A free kick was shortly after this obtained by the Staffords which they failed to improve upon, likewise a corner which proved abortive. The game was fast and interesting throughout, and some good foot work was done. The Staffords had decidedly the best of the exchanges during the latter part of the second half and were unlucky in failing to equalise. Result :—

King's Royal Rifles .... 3 goals
Staffords .... 2 goals

In the Sprinting competition which followed the 17th Lancers beat the Black Watch.

CALCUTTA RUGBY FOOTBALL.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, SEPT. 24.

The Annual International Rugby fixture between the local representatives of England and Scotland played on Calcutta ground this evening, resulted in a victory for England by eleven points to nil, or one goal and two tries to nothing. Reid Key, Captain of C. F. C. Rugby team playing for Scotland, was seriously injured, which necessitated his removal to the hospital.

A REMARKABLE situation has arisen at Castroglovanni near Palermo, a district which has long been overrun by bands of brigands. The police and carabineers have shown themselves powerless to cope with the brigands; and the inhabitants of the neighbourhood have now sent a petition to the Government asking that they may be supplied with arms and ammunition, and guaranteeing to wage war against the desperadoes until they have exterminated them.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Are you broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste, it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button. It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by medicine dealers everywhere.

GOLF IN BOMBAY.

The Golf Week.

THE Royal Bombay Golf Club commence their annual golf week this morning and an interesting series of competitions has been arranged. The entries for the various competitions are numerous but are confined to local players. It is a pity that some of the up-country cracks do not patronize the Bombay week. Of course we are unable to offer them the exhilerating atmosphere of Nasik or Poona, but at any rate golf as played in Bombay at this time of the year more nearly approaches conditions under which it is played at home than ever is obtainable at either Nasik or Poona. The energetic Honorary Secretary, Mr. Roberts, has been busy for the last few days getting the links into order and has had a staff of malis hard at work clearing the course of long grass, making new tees and giving a final rolling and cutting to the greens. The heavy rain we have experienced lately has not improved matters, and only a few days ago the course was in a very sodden condition. However everything possible has been done to make the week a success and, given fine weather, some interesting golf should take place. The competitions are held in connection with the Annual Sporting meeting promoted by the Bombay Gymkhana and the week opens with a scratch competition against "Bogey" for both Senior and Junior players, nine holes being played on Monday and on Tuesday. "Bogeys" score for the course for the Seniors is 39 when the short first hole is used. When the longer hole is used, the Committee have fixed 44 as "Bogey" for the Junior competition. Competitors will find it anything but easy to beat the "Colonel." Wednesday and Thursday will be devoted to stroke competitions, two prizes being offered for the best scratch scores and two prizes for the best handicap scores returned. On the last two days of the week the handicap foursomes will be played the conditions being over two rounds of the course against "Bogey" and some very strong combinations have entered. A great number of regular golfers are home on leave this year, but among those who will be playing there are a number who have lately taken a prominent part in the Nasik Golf week. Roberts who won the President's Cup at Nasik is playing a very good game just now and may be expected to give a good account of himself. Arnot who won the Captain's Cup and handicap foursomes at Nasik and the Golfers' Cup in Bombay and Coombs who won the handicap Cup and Lowndes who won the Nasik Gymkhana Cup will also be playing. In addition there are a number of other keen golfers who are regular players over the Bombay links. The one thing required to make the week a success is fine weather. As although the course through the green is extremely heavy and lies are bad a little sun will soon alter all this. The greens are in excellent condition and quite true and players should have no difficulty when once on the green in laying their ball dead. Competitors should be careful to make themselves acquainted with the special local rules as non-compliance with them will probably mean disqualification

Golfers' Cup.

FINAL,

Arnot and Kidd met yesterday morning to play off the final for the Golfers' Cup. The game was over two rounds of the links and up to about the 14th hole it was a very level and keenly fought match. At this point Kidd seemed to go off his putting and lost two holes by being "not up." Arnot was playing a very good game all through and in spite of the heavy state of the ground completed the second nine holes in "Bogey", which is 40. The first four holes were all halved. Each then won a hole, Arnot getting with the small screen guarding the sixth green. At the end of the first nine holes Kidd stood one up. The tenth hole was halved, and Arnot won the next two, Kidd driving into the screen to the long hole. Crossing the road one up, Arnot got in a good drive while Kidd pulling his ball but making a fine recovery was on the green in three and should have halved the hole but missed a short putt. Kidd got in a fine drive and approach having a two yard putt for a three at the next hole, but missed his putt and had to be content with a half. Being two up with four to play Arnot drove out of bounds to the fifteenth hole but won the hole owing to Kidd putting badly. This made Arnot "Dornie" three and with a beautiful tee shot on to the green within a yard or two of the hole he easily won the match four up and two to play. Results :—

CRICKET.

Bombay Gym. vs. Baronet C. C.

AN EXCITING DRAW.

THE annual interesting fixture between the Bombay Gymkhana and the Baronet Cricket Club came off on Saturday last on the Esplanade and provided some very enjoyable sport. Both the sides put strong elevens in the field, a number of men, who had at one time or the other played in International fixtures, participating in the match. The Home team included five and the Baronet eleven no less than ten such players. The game resulted in an extremely exciting draw. The Baronet C. C. going in to bat first had made 152 for two wickets, when they declared their innings closed. The Bombay Gymkhana then made 116 for 9 wickets, when time was called and the match ended in a draw. The Home team had hit up 101 for 5 wickets. Then however something like a rot set in and the next 4 wickets fell for an addition of only 6. There was only one wicket more to fall, when stumps were drawn.

For the Baronet C.C., D. D. Driver and S. M. Chothia made 54 and 47 (not out) respectively. Both these players were missed once at an early stage of their innings, which were otherwise faultless. Chothia's batting display was the more attractive of the two and his innings which included seven 4's was unconquered when his side declared.

The highest individual score on the Bombay Gymkhana side was hit up by P. M. D. Sanderson, who on his return to Bombay, played his first match this season on Saturday. He played an exhilarating game and hit up his 39 in quick time. His innings was faultless except for a chance which he gave after he had passed the third decade. The other players on the Gymkhana side to enter double figures were Phillips, Coombs, Burnham and Beadel, the first three making 16 each, and the last named contributing 10.

In the bowling department Burnham and Purcell captured one wicket each for 33 and 37 runs respectively. For the visitors Madon took 4 wickets for 32, Parekh 3 for 15 and Bapasola one for 35 runs. The scores:

THE LADIES' CORNER.

NOVEL EVENING GOWNS.

Separate tunics, which can be worn as occasion requires, but at different times, of course, over one and the same skirt, writes a London correspondent, will be among the most interesting features of the new autumn fashions, so far as evening gowns are concerned. In these impecunious days, too, when every one appears to be more or less of frugal mind, it is only natural to welcome a fashion which while it is graceful and elegant, is nevertheless distinctly economical. The young girl with the limited dress allowance should be one of the first to welcome this delightful mode, and with one good satin frock at her command, and some four or five of these tunics, she is practically prepared with what will appear to be half a dozen different frocks, offering plenty of variety in colour and design, and yet scarcely costing more than two simple evening gowns would do under ordinary conditions.

A TUNIC FOR A YOUTHFUL WEARER.

One of these tunics specially designed for a comparatively youthful wearer, is carried out in soft white satin, adorned with a handsome applique trimming of white Cluny lace, laid flatly upon the satin background, and having the design of the lace outlined with floss silk embroideries. This effective trimming appears upon the lower part of the tunic and again on the bodice, where it forms a deep belt, and where also it services to trim the sleeves. Wide black velvet ribbons are threaded through the tunic in a very original fashion and finished on either side with bows and loops. These ribbons, by the way, might be changed in colour sometimes, to harmonise with the skirt and bodice over which the tunic is worn, In the present instance, the gown is of turquoise blue crepe de Chine, while the bodice is of closely-gathered chiffon in the same shade of blue. A black velvet ribbon is worn in the hair.

TRANSPARENT NET TUNICS.

Even more desirable than the tunics which are made in solid satin, are those which are carried out in transparent net or fine silk gauze, since, when they are chosen vague indeterminate shades, they often appear to take their colour from the fabric over which they are ranged and in this way it is possible to ring yet another set of changes. There are some charming tunics, for instance, in pale grey silk net, closely embroidered with mother-of-pearl paillettes and finished with deep bugle fringes in crystal and mother-of-pearl, which will be found in many ways a good investment. For instance they will take upon themselves all kinds of different colours, accordingly as they are seen over gowns in pale shades of blue, pink, green, or heliotrope satin with all and any of which the mother-of-pearl embroideries are in perfect harmony.

EXPECTED BABY TO DIE OF ECZEMA

She was a Mass of Humour All Over When Three Months Old—Sat with Her Night and Day, Thinking the End Would Come at Any Minute—Skin Now Clear—Doctor Declares

CURE BY CUTICURA TO BE A MIRACLE

"I use Cuticura Soap steadily for my baby's skin. She had the eczema when she was three months old. She was in an awful mess all over her body. We never thought she would get over it. We sat with her night and day for about a month, expecting every minute to see her die. The doctor gave the ointment to rub her with but it did her no good. My mother was home from America and she told me to try Cuticura Ointment and to wash her with Cuticura Soap. There was a great difference when I used the first box. It seemed to soothe her and she slept. I used three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and she was quite cured. She has the purest skin and is the fattest baby now! She is a miracle, the doctor declares. I am glad to tell anybody about it. Mrs. John Ewan, 5, Victoria St. Inverurie, Scotland, Sept. 21, 1909."

BY THE WAY.

CONCERNING CHINA.

Only, after a man has lived many years in a country can he afford to confess it is a mystery to him. Dr. Arthur H. Smith, a member of the American Board of Missions, has been assuring the "Daily News" that when you live there you realise that to know China is impossible. In the same breath, however he betrays some inkling of China's position. One is interested in his reminder that the awakening of the country is not really so rapid as it seems: it has been going on for centuries, and progress has been gradual. Nations do not as a rule jump from sleep into consciousness, though Japan may seem an exception. China's comparatively slow progress is an augury circumstances considered, of its reality. Dr. Smith appears to believe in it thoroughly, but he is not sanguine that the peace will be accelerated. Anything like an adequate national system of education, he thinks, must lie very many decades ahead. In the meantime China is sending forth her sons, to Japan and the West to get instructions. The results are diversified. Dr Smith declares that the Chinese student who goes to the West comes back with his moral standard raised whereas, if he goes to Japan, it is immeasurably lowered. This should be some consolation to our moralists who have often had to endure the mortification of hearing unfavourable comparisons between the ethical standards of East and West. On the other hand, more can be learnt of military discipline from Japan than from any Western nation Japan as a military power being far ahead of England and America. This, of course, is Dr. Smith's opinion; one quotes one does not endorse it. If it be true, as it well may, what a topsy-turvey business is the evolution of national Morality is to be learnt in the West, warfare in the East! Yet both, if historical theory be correct had their rise, long centuries ago, in the same Eastern quarter.

LET GO THE PAINTER.

The pinch of prosperity has been acutely felt by a Parisian house-painter named Duclos. This unfortunate man it is reported by the "Express," own a fortune. He entered for a lottery, and own £20,000, but he found he did not receive that sum for nothing. His freedom vanished in exchange. Touts and travellers of every kind called at his obscure dwelling, vendors, friends and other borrowers. Duclos, who realised more clearly than many of his masters that money, properly understood, is only a means to an end, decided that this new form of life was not worth living. He did not, therefore, commit hysterical suicide. He determined to overcome, not be overcome by his miserable good fortune. Last Saturday, therefore, he announced that the whole affair was a mistake. He had made an error in the number of his lottery ticket, and he had won no prize after all. The effect was magical. No commercial pilgrims climbed the tortuous flights of stairs leading to his shrine, the friends, doubtless from respectful sympathy, stayed away. By Sunday Duclos was once more, in the eyes of the world, a humble house-painter, and he had no difficulty in collecting his belongings and departing without attracting any attention. When he had gone, a notice was found attached to his door, in which he admitted that he had, as a matter of fact won the prize, but that he intended to enjoy it in his own way, and his own place, and his own time. It will be a thousand pities if his whereabouts are discovered; but so resourceful and philosophic a spirit may safely be trusted to look after himself. Now for the first time his true friends may congratulate him.

SANCTUARIES FOR GAME.

Every sportsman will echo the hope expressed by his Majesty that the Hunting Congress now sitting at Vienna may take international measures for the preservation of the woodcock and quail. The first-named bird has diminished woefully since the days when the poet Wordsworth used to snare it, and even since the later period when one flew into a classroom in a Canterbury school and was brought down with a Greek Testament, more might be done too for the elephant. All our African colonies grant him reserves but the Congo leaves him absolutely at the mercy of man. Even Uganda does not do what it might: the minimum weight of tusks allowed to be exported is now 11lb, and should certainly be raised to 30lb. to protect the cows and calves more efficiently. Another unfortunate danger to game has just been pointed out by Mr. Stebbing in his "Jungle By-ways in India." The protection of forests from fire prevents the growth of that fresh, succulent grass which comes up no burnt-over areas and this combined with the increase in shooting will soon make an end of the big game in India unless sanctuaries are formed and a limitation is put to the annual number shot.

KINGSTON VALE.

It is to be regretted that the subscriptions to the fund for the preservation of Kingston Vale are not keeping pace with the rate at which the options on the land expire. Kingston Vale is the tract of country between Richmond Park and Wimbledon Common. Its value to the inhabitants of Greater London is incalculable, and it also happens that the Vale is beautiful to look upon. Twenty-nine acres have already been secured, but the area of the whole strip is nearly six times as great. Over £50,000 will be required in all, but up to the present rather less than a quarter of this sum has been collected. For many reasons the purchase of this land is highly desirable. It would keep one side of London open to the country. It would provide a good and accessible training ground for Territorials and Boy Scouts, and a handy playground for children. Additions have recently been made to Hampstead Heath at a cost of £1,000 per acre. The cost of the ground in Kingston Vale is less than a third of this—£306 per acre. Finally this is one of those opportunities which we may confidently state, never can happen again. Once let slip it is safe to say that the builder will soon see that it does not recur. London is the healthiest city in the world but it must be kept so. Here indeed is a chance for judicious philanthropy for eating our cake and having it too. Subscription should be sent to the honorary secretary at "The Keir," Wimbledon.

STIFLING THE POLICEMAN.

A paper read at the British Association showed how our wheatfields may be induced to produce far larger crops, as the hungry world goes on increasing in population. It has been known for some time that there are white-raimented police in our blood who rush upon the intruder, enfold him in a gummy embrace, and make their evening meal off him. The Rothamsted experiements show that much the same thing goes on in the soil. Here, however, the intruding balteria is a most welcome guest: the diseases he brings are hailed with joy. When he sets up inflammation on the roots of our sweet peas and scarlet runners, the inflammatory swellings absorb the invaluable nitrogen from the air and turn it into priceless nitrates and ammonia. Our learned professors are inducing this welcome guest to pay visits to tomatoes and roses, as well as scarlect runners. So we find the protozoic policeman who pounces on this guest and eats him a perfect nuisance, and the up-to-date agriculturist has sought means for strangling the minion of the law. In a happy hour it has been found that the policeman is more delicate than his victim, so we are now instructed to chloroform both of them or subject them to a Turkish bath of hot steam. The policeman will die, so too very often will his victim, but the few that remain will prosper exceedingly in absence of the constable, and cause our fields to bring forth sixty or a hundredfold.

"INDESCRIBABLY BEAUTIFUL."

The site of the new sunk garden, we gather from our contemperary, is on the east side of Kensington Palace, and in front of the Orangery, which has long been an interesting feature of the grounds. Like the garden in "Measure for Measure," the one under notice is "circummured with brick." The walls are low, with an opening on each side, and at either end, this being closed by a neat gate in wrought iron. From each of the four gates the lily pond, which extends the greater part of the length of the garden, is reached by flights of steps. From the outer wall to the paved space the ground falls in a series of terraces, consisting in about equal parts of flower border and grass turf. The borders are planted with irregularly arranged groups of flowering plants, and the effect produced by the great masses of flowers in contrast with the red brick walls, the green alleys, and the grey paving-stone, is said to be indescribably beautiful."

SCIENTIFIC NOTES.

HONOURS OF THE BRITISH ASSOCIATION.

The general public looks to the annual meeting of the British Association for the announcement of some recent discovery, or a comprehensive summing up of the present position of scientific research, or of some branch thereof. From this point of view the Presidential address will have probably been a disappointment to many. For the distinguished geologist who this year [illegible] the position did not even give a general review of recent progress in his own department, nor indicate how profoundly the great science of earth history is influencing human life and thought. His unique position as Canon of Manchester and Professor of Geology even suggested some review of that borderland where science and religion overlap as the subject for discourse. Instead of any such general topic of interest, the Rev. Dr. Bonney chose two comparatively uninteresting and minor questions in glacial geology as his theme. His able and exhaustive address would not even appeal to all geologists.

DID THE ICE SCOOP OUT LAKE BASINS?

The first part of the Address dealt with the theory held by an increasing number of geologists, that the majority of lake basins have been scooped out by the ice. More than fifty years ago a famous geologists, Sir A. Ramsey, put forward the view that the greater number of the hollows occupied by lakes, especially in Alpine regions, have been excavated by the ice of glaciers and ice sheets. No scientific theory could be more clearly proved. Granted the physical properties of ice, and the laws of mechanics, it followed that a glacier must excavate a hollow in its valley, which, when the ice melted, would be occupied by a lake. Yet when existing glaciers, or the regions from which they have recently retired, were examined, it became more and more evident that the ice is doing no such work of excavation. As Dr. Bonney says. "We are asked to credit glaciers with the erosion of deep valleys and the excavation of great lakes and yet, whenever we pass from hypothesis to facts, we find them to have been singularly inefficient workman." At the same time he is inclined to admit that many tarns in corries, and lakelets in other favourable situations may be due to excavations by ice. The difficulty, however, of admitting this agency, he contends, increases with the size of the lake basin.

LAND ICE OR SUBMERGENCE.

The second part of Dr. Bonney's address was occupied with the discussion of certain rival explanations of the facts as to the distribution of erratics and other glacial phenomena in this country. Some geologists attribute these to the work of land ice, while others believe the land was submerged during the glacial epoch. After an able summing up of the facts as at present known, Dr. Bonney concludes that they cannot be claimed to support either view. "In regard to the British Isles," he says "the difficulties in either hypothesis appear so great that while I consider those in the land-ice hypothesis to be the more serious, I cannot as yet declare the other one to be satisfactorily established. This may seem a sorry conclusion to some, but as the learned Professor remarks, hypothesis are apt to masquerade as facts and all scientific men will be grateful to him for his endeavour to disentangle them.

THE NEW PHYSICS.

In the development of the new physics in which the atom has been superseded by the electron as the elementary unit of matter, Sir J. J. Thompson is a pioneer. That wonderful conception, the new atom, is largely due to him. Instead of the "hard incompressible sphere," of which Clerk Maxwell wrote, we must imagine a company of many hundreds of units of negative electricity performing regular evolutions like some miniature planetary system. Such electrons are mutually repellent, but are held together in the atom by what is vaguely called a "charge" of positive electricity.

ELECTRONS.

Positive and negative electricity were terms introduced in the early days of the science to express the remarkable fact that two bodies could be electrified so as to attract each other. If, however, the two bodies are electrified in the same way they repel each other. To explain this it was assumed that there were two sorts of electricity which differed absolutely in no other way. Hence when it was discovered that negative electricity was composed of minute corpuscles, or electrons, it was naturally expected that positive electricity would turn out to have a similar atomic character. In an interesting paper read at the meeting of the British Association Sir J. J. Thompson deals with the question of positive and negative atoms of electricity.

IS THERE A POSITIVE ELECTRON?

The negative atom, the electron, is well known. Physicists tell us with confidence its exact weight and the number existing in the atom of any element 1,000 in the hydrogen atom, 16,000 in the oxygen atom, and 14,000 in that of nitrogen. The positive unit of electricity, however, has not yet revealed itself, and hence there is a certain incompleteness in the new theory of the atom, of matter and the new physics generally. In the above paper Sir J. J. Thompson, though admitting that the positive unit of electricity has not yet been actually discovered, hints that its revelation is very near.

IS THE ELECTRON A FRAGMENT OF ELECTRICITY?

When the positive atom of electricity is determined as completely as the negative one has been, then it is to be hoped that a more definite conception of the constitution of the atom of matter will be possible. It is difficult, in the meantime, to understand how a number of electrons, which mutually repel each other, can be kept together in the sphere of the atom. And it would, further, conduce to clearness of thought if it could be definitely decided whether the electron is actually a unit of electricity, or a unit of something else carrying a charge of electricity. At present it is spoken of indifferently as either, in accordance with the convenience of the writer. Obviously, it cannot be both.

OPPOSITE EFFECTS OF THE X-RAY.

Some rather paradoxical results of experimentation on the physiological effects of the x-ray are now explained, according to a writer in "The Medical Record" (New York, July 9,) "by the discovery that those effects depend on the intensity used. The ray may stimulate or kill, just as is the case with certain drugs, as the dose is small or large. Says the periodical just named: "Since the discovery of the x-rays and their application to theraputics, many and various results have been obtained from their use, results often quite contradictory in character, the explanations, of which have at times have been distinctly puzzling. It has been difficult in many instances to explain why in one case the use of the rays would cause degeneration and at others regenerations of similar tissues; why for example, in one patient superfluous hair would be removed and in another the use of the rays on a smooth skin would result in a profuse hirsute adornment. In recent years, however, means have been devised of regulating the dose of the x-rays and of estimating in units the amount of radiation being administered in each case. This has made the study of the action more accurate and has enabled the illumination of several obscure points. . . . He Schmidt reports a small series of experiments into the effect of various doses of the x-ray upon cell growth. Having soaked a number of beans in water for six hours he treated the different beans with different doses of the rays and then planted them. His results were quite uniform and demonstrated two points of interest. Whereas those beans which were treated with large doses of the rays were partially or completely inhibited in their growth, as compared to untreated control beans, those which received very small doses were distinctly stimulated; not only were the plants larger and more vigorous, but the flowers were larger and the resulting crop of beans better. From these findings Schmidt suggests that the same phenomenon may apply to animal cells, and experiments which he carried out on an ulceron the arm suggest that this is the case. If this be so it is evident that in treating conditions in which healing and proliferation are desired, as a sluggish ulcer, very small doses of the x-ray should be used, where in cases of malignant growth, where tissue destruction is required, large doses are needed and small doses instead of destroying the neoplasm may do harm rather than good by stimulating it to renewed activity."

WE ARE THE PIONEERS OF WRIST WEAR. A new model has to pass through the severest tests before we place it before the public; and should it fail to satisfy in the minutest particular, what we know to be the essentials of a Wrist Watch, it is at once discarded.

These "Ideal" Wrist Watches are constructed to withstand hard-wear, such as we know a wrist watch must of necessity be subjected to. They are built for the Indian climate and to these combined features we attribute their great popularity. The lever movement is fully jewelled, strong keyless attachment, compensated balance, carefully adjusted hair spring, white enamel dial, bold numerals, sunk seconds circle. The time-keeping accuracy and durability of these watches carry our usual guarantee. The soft leather wristlet obviates contact of metal with the skin, vitiates the possibilities of irritation or poisoning and reduces even the remote chance of moisture permeating case.

Both of the illustrations are photographic reproductions, and No. 2 shows the chamois lined strap crossing the back of watch.

SIR G. DUNCAN GIBB, Bart., M.D.,
Physician to the Westminster Hospital.

"The value of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL as a therapeutic agent in a number of diseases, chiefly of an exhaustive character, has been admitted by the world of medicine; but, in addition, I have found it a remedy of great power in the treatment of many Affections of the Throat and Larynx, especially in Consumption of the latter, where it will sustain life when everything else fails."

DR. SINCLAIR COGHILL,
Physician to the Royal National Hospital for Consumption, Ventnor.

"I have convinced myself that in Tubercular and the various forms of Strumous Disease, Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL possesses greater therapeutic efficacy than any other Cod Liver Oil with which I am acquainted. It was especially noted in a large number of cases in which the patients protested they had never been able to retain or digest other Cod Liver Oil, that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL was not only tolerated, but taken readily, and with marked benefit."

JOSEPH J. POPE Esq., M.R.C.S.,
Late Staff Surgeon, Army, Professor of Hygiene, Birkbeck Institution, London.

"I found during my Indian experience that the worth and character of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL remained unchanged by tropical heat or foreign climate, and it was, from its uniformity of character, particularly adapted for long-continued administration. The value of 'hydro-carbons' in all debilitated states of the system is now becoming thoroughly recognized; and it is, without doubt, from the animal oils, and fats, rather than from their vegetable substitutes, that we may hope to derive the surest benefit. The Oil of DR. DE JONGH places in everyone's reach a reliable and valuable remedy, one that cannot be too widely recognized."

DR. R. C. CROFT,
Author of "Handbook for the Nursery."

"DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is almost a specific in many of the Diseases peculiar to Infancy and Childhood, and I have seen marked benefit produced by its use. Patients prefer it to the Pale Oils, and are able to retain it more comfortably."

Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is Supplied ONLY in IMPERIAL Half-Pints, Pints and Quarts, sealed with BETTS' Patent Capsule impressed on the top with DR. DE JONGH'S Stamp, and on the side with his Signature, and the Signature of ANSAR, HARFORD & Co.; and bearing under the wrapper a Label with the same Stamp and Signatures.
